Now, the blockchain technology has also provided a retirement solution plan for school teachers. The Teacher Coin framework aims at ensuring that every educator who has been connected to the platform, gets a chance at making substantial revenue profits, after their individual teaching service years are elapsed.

How the platform works and the opportunities that abounds
Teacher Coin makes implementable agreements via the use of blockchain smart contracts, where educator investors make investment contributions with specified time durations, payment structures, and other contract terms under the well drafted TCH plan.

The advantage in this type of system, lies in the fact that everything comes easy and straightforward, thus removing the lapses of the regular centralized methods to achieving these objectives. For instance, the TCH smart contracts would provide immutable, verifiable, and automatic non delayed transactions.

Teacher Coin tokens and the progresses made this far
The Teacher Coin protocol is fast gaining popularity on the digital currency scene, due to the ingeniousness and relevance of the solutions provided. More investors have come on to acquire their own shares of the valued Teacher Coins.

Currently, the platform has been able to rise substantially in terms of followership and adoption, pulled through the use of social media. This has also been facilitated by the ongoing bounty program, which has proved highly successful, and useful as well.

By all indications, the Teacher Coin holds such great prospects for the coming days. Trading of the tokens are now well established on the token store, and the indicators are on a reasonable green.
